Global Yen Sustainability Bond

Starbucks Global Yen Sustainability Bond

At Starbucks, we believe in using our scale for good, and having a positive social impact in the communities we serve. With our inaugural March 2017 issuance of a ¥85 billion* ($763 million) global sustainability bond, we made a commitment to investors to use the note's proceeds to support a positive social and environmental impact in our coffee supply chain.

This report marks a year from our first global sustainability bond's issuance, and we are pleased to report that all funds have been deployed to eligible programs.

Proceeds from the issuance were used to elevate the positive impacts of Starbucks coffee supply chain through three programs:

- C.A.F.E. Practices verified coffee purchases
- The development and operation of Farmer Support Centers
- Global Farmer Fund, providing loans to farmers across the globe

As the first U.S. Corporate issuer of a Global Sustainability Bond we hope to inspire others to innovate on, and improve, the role of public companies across the world.
